Your Digestive System; where Health Starts

Before

Fiber Helps Prevent Colon Disease
and specific of cancer

Fibre is essential for healthy digestion, it's important to maintain a healthy Gut, it links with many other health benefits.

A lack of fiber may cause negative impact the natural intestinal barrier system. Growing evidence shows that adequate fibre intake can benefit healthy digestion and reduce risk of chronic Disease.

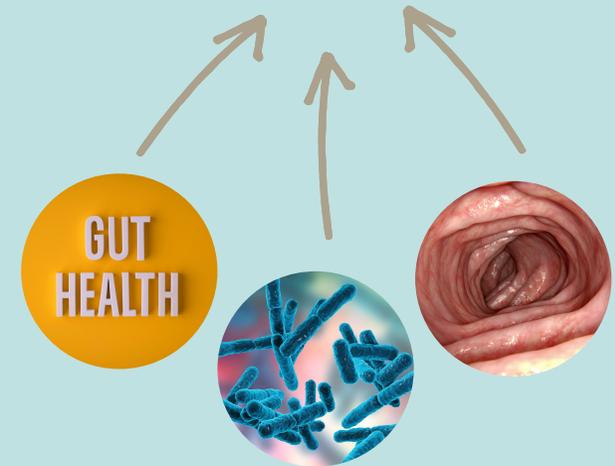

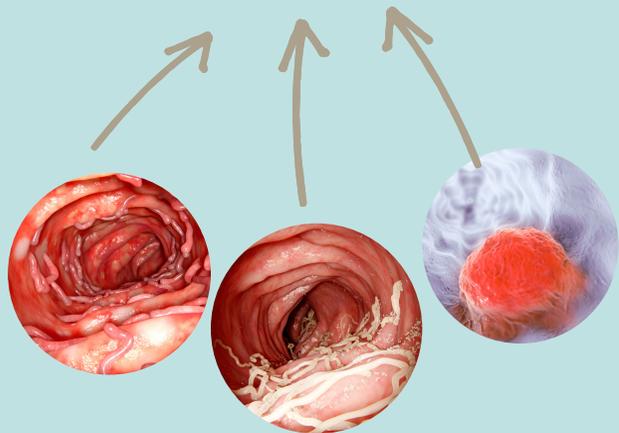

Many of these benefit are mediated by ours gut microbiota, (Nearly trillion of bacteria that live in our digestive system. these bacteria is amazing, They increase your ability to metabolize, produce important nutrients, regulate the immune system and protect against harmful germs in the body, these are all the benefits).

Fiber are also helping to remove toxins and wastes from the body through the normal passage of stool and colon. Fiber is to keep your colon health which can significantly reduces colon disease.

However, the average person does not consume anywhere near the daily recommended amount of 30g fiber that the body needs.

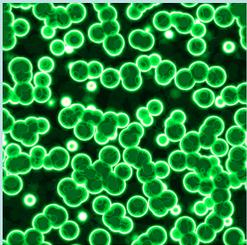

After

WHY WE NEED ENZYME

The enzymes in your body helps to perform very important tasks, Muzen contains fruit Enzymes that helps to build muscle, eliminate toxins, and break down food particles during digestion process. Enzymes that can help efficiently break down the large molecules of fat, protein and carbohydrates to smaller pieces. When your body digest meals efficiently, so the macronutrients have better absorption to be used by the body. Your diet lifestyle also effects Enzyme that are produced naturally in the body. With many different factors, such as age, stress, and lack of healthy meals, your body may tend to slow down in terms of enzyme production.

Type of enzymes work in your digestive system

- Amylase: Breaks down starches and carbohydrates into sugars.
- Protease: Breaks down proteins into amino acids.
- Lipase: Breaks down lipids, which are fats and oils, into glycerol and fatty acids.

Fiber are feed your healthy gut Bacterias, hight fiber diet can been reduce the risk of inflammatory...

Bring Balance To your Life

A person overall health and energy depend on nourishment of the cells. maintaining digestive health is an important factor in getting the nutrients as what the body needs. Because the digestive system is responsible for breaking down and absorbing all the nutrients from the food to provide energy and building blocks for body's structures. Each macronutrient plays a special role in your health. Enzymes helps digest your meals more efficiently to support absorption of macronutrients, so you can get the most nutrition out of your meals.
